

National Tooling & Machining Association

Premier Representative of Custom Precision U.S. Manufacturers

The NTMA Is Looking For A Few Good Partners!

The National Tooling & Machining Association, the largest non-profit trade association in the U.S. for metalworking companies, is looking for companies willing to “team” with the NTMA with the purpose of helping U.S. metalworking manufacturers become more competitive in the global marketplace.

What’s in it for you? By working together we make the industry stronger, the companies in the industry will need more of what you provide! The NTMA wants to bring new technologies and ideas on improving metalworking businesses to its members. You have the ideas! We have the members! As an NTMA member you will be:

- Provided contact information for all NTMA member companies
- Provided contact information for chapters looking for speakers and articles
- Listed online in “NTMA Speaker Showcase” for groups looking for speakers
- Allowed to set up informational tables at NTMA national conferences
- Provided the opportunity to submit abstracts to be included in NTMA Technology Conferences
- Networking at national meetings with some of the best owners/managers in the country
- Provided regular marketing information on industry sectors that can be used to assess your on-going business plan, and show you where the best markets are
- Given access to over 30 discount programs your company can use, with some being made available for your employees to use at a personal level
- Given access to NTMA members-only online management tools
- Provided access to NTMA members-only tools for all company employees
- Given a FREE registration to a NTMA national meeting to start networking with members
- Given the chance to present a seminar at national meetings
- Given the right to use the NTMA logo on marketing materials to let members know you support the organization and you are a member of the organization
